BY ELLIS CUEVAS

A four-vehicle collision closed the west lane of I-10 Wednesday afternoon between the DeLisle exit and Highway 603.

A chemical spill was caused by an 18-wheeler which flipped on its side and began leaking a liquid composed of 80% water with alcohol and hazardous wastes, reported Diamondhead Fire Chief Dennis Westbrook, who was at the scene.

The accident involved two 18-wheelers, a pickup and an automobile.

Diamondhead's Fire Department, Mississippi State Highway Patrol Troopers and Hancock County sheriff's deputies were among those at the scene.

Hancock County road crews responded with two loads of dirt to help contain the spill, Robert Boudin, Civil Defense director reported.

Boudin said, "Our main concern is to keep hazardous materials out of the (Jourdan) river."

At press time, several chemical response teams were enroute to the accident in addition to another tanker to offload the over-turned tanker.

Information received by Boudin's office reported the truck was owned by Chemical Conservation of Valdosta, Ga. and was on its way to Malone Services, Texas City, Texas.

The incident occurred at about 3 p.m. on the west lane of I-10 between the Jourdan River and Highway 603.

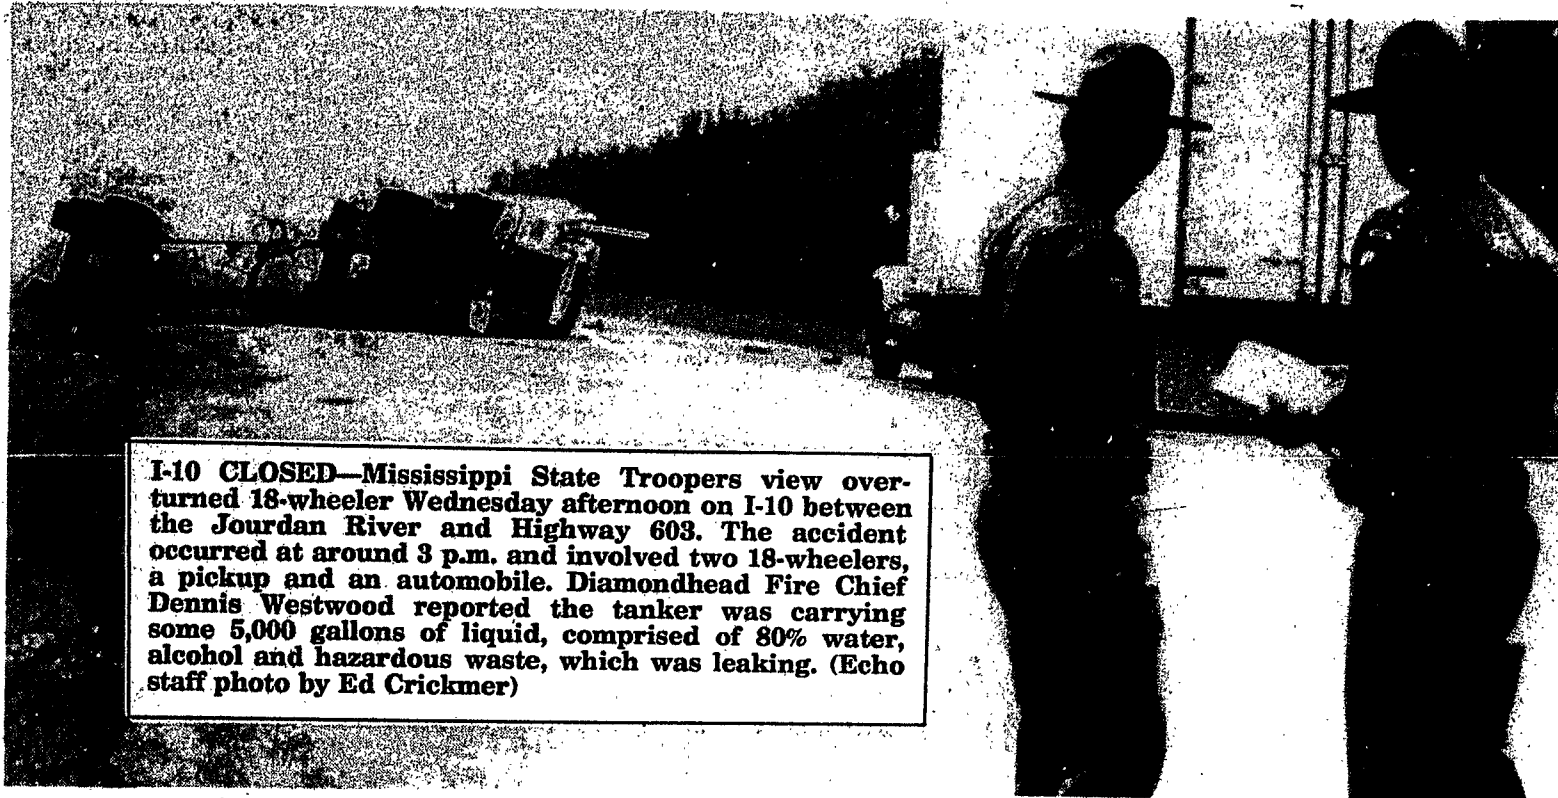

The truck straddled the highway causing traffic to be delayed on both west and east-bound lanes of the interstate.

Boudin stated, "Since the accident occurred near Diamondhead, it was under the jurisdiction of the Diamondhead Fire Department, Boudin reported.

"My job is to render any assistance the CD department can during this type of situation," Boudin said from civil defense headquarters in Bay St. Louis.

Initial reports indicate two persons with injuries were transported to Hancock Medical Center.

The driver of the truck was talking to officials at the scene. The tanker reportedly had 5,000 gallons of liquid.

Port Bienville park gets new locomotive

BY TRACI BONNEY

All aboard! The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is expecting the delivery of a new locomotive this week for use in the Port Bienville Industrial Park.

The 1974 model locomotive, being leased through the Relco Company in Illinois, will replace a 1939 engine now in use. The 1939 engine will be kept for spare parts, according to Commission Director Harold "Buz" Olsen.

The new engine, which was being used in Baytown, Texas, is being brought to the park by Union-Pacific Railroad.

The new engine isn't exactly for taking joyrides, though. Olsen said the locomotive will be used for moving railroad cars from plants in the park to the main track for pickup by CSX Railroad. It will also be used for moving items into storage, for moving steel for Bienville Steel, and other purposes.

Olsen said a 1941 locomotive already in use at the park will be kept as a backup unit in case there are problems with the newer one.

Insurance, budget dominate Bay school board discussion

BY LIZ HAAS

A topic of lengthy discussion at the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District Board of Trustees meeting Monday was the school district's building insurance, which expires July 1 of this year.

At a previous meeting, board members Gary Yarborough and Jim Wilcox were appointed as a committee to either ask for a renewal quote from the present insurance carrier or obtain quotes from other agents.

Yarborough obtained a quote from the present carrier, Stewart-Sneed-Hewes Inc., of Gulfport.

"The premium was a little higher than last year, but they have more buildings to insure this year," Yarborough said, adding he thought it was a reasonable bid.

Wilcox went to two local agents, Hancock Insurance Agency and Treutel Insurance Agency Inc., to find out if they would have the ability to quote the school's insurance, without receiving bids from them. He was told both agencies could assist in the matter.

Yarborough said he thought

Making ends meet

Graduate student plans to interview Kiln women for thesis

New York who is working on her master's degree thesis in human service studies.

She is the daughter of former Bay St. Louis resident Geri Martin-Brisolara and Ashton Brisolara, now of Metairie, La. She plans to distribute questionnaires to 35 women in the Kiln area.

She said, "I want to get women's perspectives on their communities, their perspectives of the local economy. I want to hear some of their strategies for making ends meet — household production activities such as canning and gardening — strategies for reducing expenses and improving the quality of living for their families."

"I also want to hear women's recommendations for the services that should be offered for families in the community."

Brisolara-Acebal said the questionnaires are confidential. No names or addresses will be put on the forms, and participation in the survey is voluntary.

In addition to surveying and interviewing the women, she plans to talk with local government officials and staff members.

T-shirt design depicts walking track

BY LIZ HAAS

Residents enjoying the Hancock County Walking Track will soon be able to purchase t-shirts emblazoned with an original design of the popular outdoor fitness facility.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will be selling t-shirts as promotional items. The heavy, white 100 percent cotton shirts will be designed with a four-color print scheme, depicting the landscaped track.

The artwork was donated and designed by Candice Strahan of Screendoor Graphics.

Executive director of the Hancock Chamber, Olivia Roland, said, "We need to pre-sell enough t-shirts so we are able to order them."

We hope to sell about 300 shirts, at $15 each, in small, medium, large and extra-large sizes."

Persons wishing to order t-shirts may contact the chamber office at 467-9048.

The walking track is a joint project between the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and the Bay-Waveland Garden Club in cooperation with the Hancock County Parks and Recreation Commission.

The track is maintained by the Parks and Recreation Commission and is presently undergoing its beautification stage.

During this time, county recreation director Hilda Bourg will continue to work on the completion and installation of promotional signs for the track and completing the parking lot. In the fall, the recreation commission will begin seeding.

Lakeshore hit-and-run still under investigation

BY TRACI BONNEY

Hancock County Sheriff's Department personnel continue to investigate a hit-and-run that occurred May 10 on Lakeshore Road.

According to Investigator Matt Karl, Kay B. McGovern, 30, of Lakeshore is still receiving medical attention a month after being struck by a car with a white top and brown body, driven by a white male.

Karl said Deputy Billy Pepperman responded to a call at about 2 p.m. that day from Hancock Medical Center personnel, who said a woman had been brought into the center and left there.

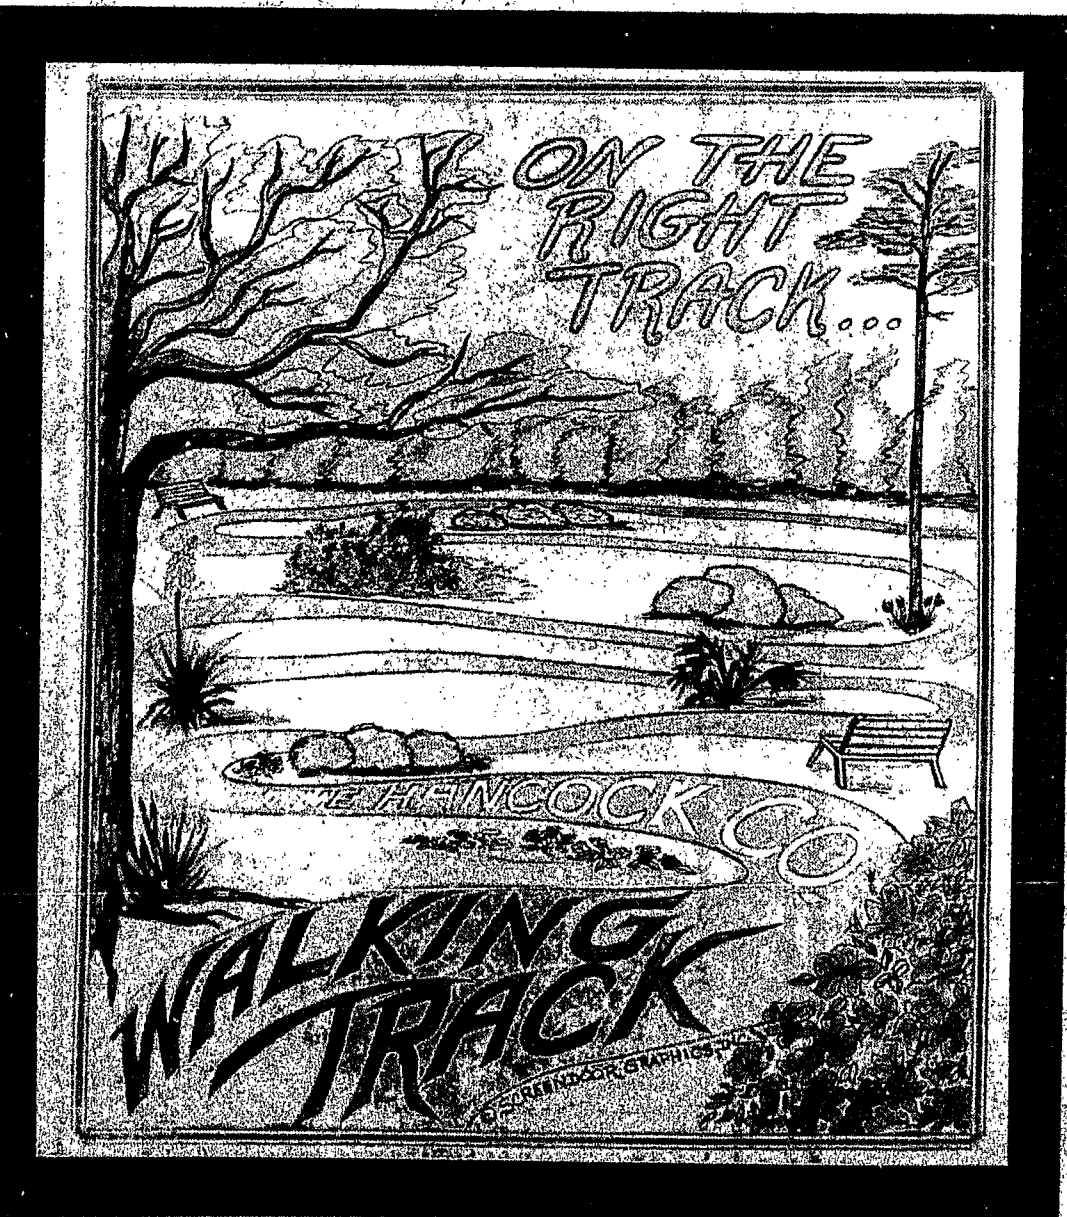

Karl said McGovern was jogging and was in a curve of the road when the car hit her.

McGovern couldn't sit up or move enough to get the car's license number, he added, because her leg was broken in several places.

However, a passing motorist stopped and took her to the medical center.

"We haven't quit," Karl said. "Every car we see that looks close to what we're looking for, we stop."

Karl said if anyone has information that would help the investigation, he or she should call the department.

Today is Flag Day

Today is Flag Day. It is a day set aside by presidential proclamation when Old Glory should be displayed as a symbol of patriotism. It is time to honor America.

Historians do not agree on some accounts, and it is almost impossible to separate facts from legends, but we do know that the second Continental Congress met in Philadelphia on June 14, 1777 and adopted a resolution describing Old Glory which is now one of the world's most recognized emblems.

Who designed the flag? Who made the first flag? Our school children are taught that Mrs. Betsy Ross stitched it together when a committee composed of her uncle, George Ross, and George Washington and Robert Morris called on Betsy Ross at her small upholstery shop in Philadelphia and discussed with her a sketch of the flag.

She stitched the flag together and designed the five-point star which is still used on our flag. The white stars on a field of blue represent the individual states of our nation, although no star specifically identifies any state. We are told that Mississippi entered the Union on Dec. 10, 1817 and is ranked as the 20th state. Hawaii is the 50th state, admitted to the Union on Aug. 21, 1959.

A popular legend concerning the Star Spangled Banner tells us that a sea captain named William Driver of Salem, Mass. had a homemade flag that his mother made which he displayed on his brig. It has not been proven that this particular emblem ever flew in any sea or land battle during the American Revolution. The flag of 1777 was unchanged until Vermont and Kentucky were admitted to the Union.

The obscure Francis Hopkinson didn't get very far with his claim to have designed our flag. He asked for reimbursement from Congress in 1781. The claim was denied.

Why do we honor the flag? It represents our history, our hopes and ambitions and our supreme sacrifices. It represents "one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

There are many rules for displaying and caring for our United States flag. Probably the most important one to remember is, "when a national flag is raised or lowered as part of a ceremony, or when it passes in a parade, all persons present should face it and stand at attention with right hand placed over the heart."

No. We are not certain who designed the flag, nor do we know for sure who made it. But we are sure that the United States flag deserves our loyalty, our devotion and respect. It is a symbol of our heritage and it is our responsibility to defend it.

The United States flag should be displayed every day in good weather and especially on election days and Independence Day (July 4.)

It is interesting to note that during the Civil War, President Abraham Lincoln refused to have the stars for the southern states taken from the flag.

Surely God has blessed America, the beautiful, our home, sweet home.

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

Why buy a cat a toy?
Give him a paper ball instead.

Why do people buy cat toys? I was walking through the pet products aisle of the grocery store the other day and stopped to look at the cat toys. I thought of buying a couple for the kittens a friend recently gave my church, but decided not to waste my money.

Now, don't go labeling me a cat-hater. I happen to like cats. I also happen to know, though, that most cats don't care about most cat toys.

How do I know? Experience, my friends, experience.

When my best friend and I shared an apartment, she convinced me that we needed a kitten in our lives. Against my better judgement, I agreed to let her bring home a little black fur ball named Nicolas.

Nicolas soon turned into a spoiled brat-cat, and we decided to get him a playmate. So we went to the local animal hospital, which inoculates and gives away whatever critters it has too many of on a given day.

We chose a darling orange-and-white tabby kitten with blue eyes that made me think of Frank Sinatra. So I named him Maggie and we took him home.

Maggie and I went all out for those two, buying them toys to keep them amused while we were away during the day. When we came home for lunch or at the end of the day, we'd find the toys untouched—especially the ones with the catnip in them—and our crocheted yarn strung out from the upstairs bedrooms, down the stairs, through the dining room to the living room and back to the dining room, then into either the kitchen or the downstairs bathroom—where the litterbox was located.

The only cat toys they did like were some little plastic balls that look like miniature Wiffle balls with bells in them. In fact, the cats liked them so much they either tore them up or knocked them under the refrigerator and dishwasher.

What the cats really liked were paper balls. If either Maggie or I crumpled up a piece of paper, the cats instantly stopped playing and started watching us to see where we would throw the paper ball.

Then they'd chase it, bat it around, fight over it, carry it—can you imagine how silly Nicolas looked carrying a paper ball like a dog would carry a bone?—claw it, chew on it and just generally abuse it until it no longer resembled paper.

They also liked an empty plastic soda bottle I filled with small bells. That thing fascinated them! Nicolas would bat it around for hours, trying to get to the bells and getting totally confused when he couldn't.

Scratching posts were wasted on those two. We were blessed because the cats didn't claw the furniture. They just clawed the carpet off the corner of the stairs—in an apartment where we weren't supposed to have pets.

So we bought them a scratching post. Nicolas did put it to its proper use. In fact, he tended to topple it in his enthusiasm to use it.

Frankie, on the other hand, ignored it except when Nicolas had turned it on its side and was perched on it. Then it turned into a giant toy.

I guess cats are a lot like small children. If you give a boy an empty box or a sleeping bag and a couple of chairs, he'll turn it into anything from a house to a spaceship. A little girl can turn a few rocks, some moss, a couple of twigs and a clear patch of ground into a fully furnished apartment for a woman that exists only in the girl's imagination.

Cats are like that, too. They don't need expensive toys as long as there are pieces of yarn and paper balls to amuse them.

School Board

the board should stay with the same company in order to build an allegiance with one carrier, which, he said, would be beneficial to the schools in the long run.

Board chairman Chuck Benvenuti argued the board did not know this was the best bid they could get because they did not get any competitive bids on the building insurance. Under the law, the board is not required to advertise for competitive bids on insurance.

At the end of discussion, a motion was made and passed unanimously to accept the bid from Stewart-Sneed-Hewes Inc.

The approval of the 9-14-90

(special education) budget for the fiscal year 90-91 was discussed. The board must send a proposal for this budget with its application to receive a state grant for the school district.

Fred Wagner, a local architect, submitted two bids on a main stage curtain and cyclorama for the school's auditorium. A cyclorama is a curved wall or stage curtain used to give an impression of unlimited space.

The bid from Southern Stage Company in Jackson was accepted, including $2,997 for the stage curtain and $2,183 for the cyclorama, bringing the total bid to $5,180. This also includes installation, which Wagner recommended to be October 1, 1990.

Superintendent Robert Magee discussed with the board a letter from A.J. Rogers of NASA requesting the schools' permission to locate an air monitoring station in the open area at the Bay St. Louis High School stadium. The station is a mobile utility trailer established as a line to test the air. The board passed a motion to grant NASA's request.

The board also approved financial transfers of interests from various bank accounts to either the operating fund or another fund, effective June 30 of this year.

The board accepted several resignations and approved a motion to continue the certification of present employees and provisionally certified educators in the district.

The board went into executive session early in the meeting to discuss the ownership of cheerleading uniforms. After leaving executive session, Benvenuti told the public that the board had decided to reimburse each girl $70 for her uniform.

However, a question arose as to whether the school district can hold a cheerleader's report card until she turns in her uniform. The board decided not to take action on the matter until it receives an opinion from the state attorney general.

Track

The chamber and the garden club have chosen the track as the first phase of their Highway 90 beautification project. The chamber is responsible for donation solicitation. They have been collecting donations from area merchants and individuals since June of last year.

A water fountain with handicapped access, donated by the doctors of Hancock Medical Center, was recently installed. Last Halloween a "Masked Fun Walk" was sponsored to spark interest in the project. To date, the chamber has collected in excess of $3,000.

They still need $5,000 to complete the project, including maintenance. They are also in need of three flag poles at $400 each and two water fountains at $350 each.

Roland said, "The chamber sees the walking track as an ongoing project and we will add different things over time to the beautification of the track."

According to Roland, after the plants are bedded, the final touch will be to install botanical signs so that everyone will be recognized for their donations.

The garden club is responsible for the landscaping of the track. They had an architect draw the plans and the club has set out to implement them.

During the months of January and February, they began planting the trees that had been donated. They have planted a total of 42 trees, nine of which the garden club donated in memory of their past presidents.

Club president Nanette Murphree said, "If someone wants to donate a plant or tree, we look at the plan of the track to determine where it will go."

Murphree said, "As soon as the parking lot is completed, we will be able to begin landscaping that area and we hope to eventually give the track a park-like effect with the benches, water fountains, lights, trees and flower beds."

Steering committee members who oversee the track project include Teresa Heath, chamber beautification chairman; Murphree and Bourg.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

As I drive about the area I notice there still are some folks who are not using their seat belts.

It is now Mississippi law that everyone riding in a vehicle wear seat belts.

Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson reports that it is now required that all members of his department wear seat belts.

One of the things I haven't been able to figure out is why there is no penalty for not wearing seat belts in Mississippi.

We are told, and I do believe it is true, many deaths and serious injuries could be avoided by motorists involved in accidents if they had been wearing seat belts.

I got into the habit of wearing seat belts several years ago, and now it is automatic that I strap myself in whenever I enter a vehicle.

The Old Fashioned St. Clare's Fair and Seafood Festival is now history, and indications are that most who attended had an enjoyable time.

A popular affair at St. Clare's was the 'dunking booth,' especially when the political figures were up.

It seems a lot of folks like to dunk politicians, and some report they hit the water 20 times or more during their hour's stunt.

It will not be too long before Our Lady of the Gulf's Crab Festival (June 29, 30 and July 1), and St. Rose de Lima's Annual Fair (July 7 and 8), will be happening.

Libby Roland, executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce reports she is in need of three golf carts.

The golf carts are to be used at Buccaneer Stake Park during the International Rally of the Telephone Pioneers Family Campers.

The golf carts will be used at Buccaneer Park only by the organization's officials from July 21 to July 27.

Libby reports she can arrange for transportation in getting the carts to Buccaneer. The Telephone Pioneers are expecting some 1,500 people in campers at the Waveland park.

If you think you can help, give Libby a call at 467-9048.

Tough crime laws needed for nation

Across the nation Americans are sending their elected leaders a firm message that they are tired of being held hostage in their own communities. An ever-increasing crime rate has made many Americans feel that our government has for too long ignored the rights of victims while catering to those who inflict pain on law abiding citizens.

Recently Sen. Phil Gramm (R-Tx.) tacked on an amendment to a Senate Panamanian aid bill which would have allowed the District of Columbia to impose the death penalty on criminals convicted of drug-related murders.

Although this bill was not passed into law, I believe it would have sent a forceful message to criminals. A tough law such as this would have been a welcome relief to those who live in fear of the drug lords.

Finally, many elected officials are sensing the mood of a nation tired of permissiveness in regard to violent crime. Most of the Conservative Democrats and Republican senators voted for the Gramm amendment.

Some senators reversed their life-long opposition to capital punishment. Legislators in such states as California, Georgia, Florida and Texas are emphasizing their pro-capital punishment views.

The issue is not simply a "far away" national issue, however. It relates not only to crime-infested large cities such as New York, Chicago and Washington, but to South Mississippi as well. As a state senator I voted with my fellow Mississippi legislators to keep the death penalty as a deterrent to violent crime. Mississippi must continue to be a leader in the fight against crime.

One major factor for the escalating crime rate is our enormous drug problem. While in the state Legislature I also supported a measure which doubled the sentence of a person convicted of selling drugs within 1,000 feet of a school yard. Additionally, with the help of state Senator Pat Welch and others, I successfully amended the measure to mandate a life sentence for a person convicted of selling a total of two ounces of heroine, two ounces of cocaine, or a total of 10 pounds of marijuana or 100 pills during a 12 month period.

We need this same tough law for the nation. I support provisions that authorize the death penalty for those convicted of murder, espionage, treason and rape. And I believe we need to speed up the judicial process and eliminate lengthy appeals. This would curtail the manipulation of our judicial process by criminals who wish to escape justice.

12 alternatives to lashing out at your kid.

The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out—STOP! And try any of these simple alternatives.

You'll feel better . . . and so will your child.

1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult . . .
2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or better yet, to 20.
4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
5. Put yourself in a time-out chair. Think about why you are angry: Is it your child, or is your child simply a convenient target for your anger?
6. Phone a friend.
7. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
8. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.
9. Hug a pillow.
10. Turn on some music. Maybe even sing along.
11. Pick up a pencil and write down as many helpful words as you can think of. Save the list.
12. Write for prevention information: National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse, Box 2866L, Chicago, IL 60690.

Stop using words that hurt. Start using words that help.

Natchez Trace celebrations would have pleased Mrs. Byrnes

Roane Fleming Byrnes would have been proud of all the celebrity attention her beloved Natchez Trace was given here last week.

Although she passed away 20 years ago, Mrs. Byrnes is still a legend here as the prime mover in the 1940s, 50s and 60s in pushing federal and state officials to restore the 444-mile long pioneer trail as a national parkway.

It was Mrs. Byrnes, a grande dame of Natchez in her wide-brimmed, floppy hat who kept alive the dream that someday the Natchez Trace, the frontier gateway to the old Southwest, would be reborn for modern day travel all the way from Natchez to Nashville.

Now, all but 40 miles of the Natchez Trace Parkway are open to travellers to retrace the route of Andrew Jackson on his triumphant return to Nashville after his victory in the Battle of New Orleans that ended the War of 1812.

Another 20 miles of the parkway are under construction and will be open to travel within several months.

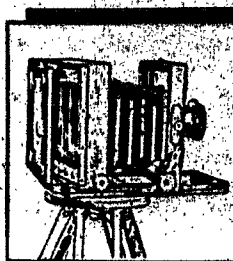

Meantime last week there were events galore in Natchez to celebrate the rich history and literary legacy of the Natchez Trace and mark the addition of several historically valuable attractions to be enjoyed in the future by visitors to this old river city.

The events were part of a three-day celebration built around the theme, "The Natchez Trace: Its Literary Legacy," sponsored by the Natchez Campus of Copiah-Lincoln Community College, and financially assisted by the National Endowment for the Humanities, and The Mississippi Humanities Council with cooperation of several groups.

It brought together several nationally prominent figures in the field of history to discuss the historical significance of the Natchez Trace and some of the great figures of American history who trod the frontier wilderness road.

From Dr. Robert Remini, professor of history at the University of Illinois in Urbana, considered the top historian on Andrew Jackson, came the revelation that Natchez was always one of Jackson's favorite places long before his historic

It was brought out the slot machine was not a gambling machine, but more of an amusement device since there was no betting.

J.C. Rourke, suburban district manager for the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, spent part of the week in this city in the interest of his office. Rourke told the Echo in an interview his company's three reasons for not giving individual subscribers the locations of fires. First, when the alarm is sounded it causes an unusual rush upon the operators and develops and creates a load that the service cannot carry. Secondly, operators are only human and undue demand upon their physical resources unnerves and upsets the service for a considerable time after the rush has passed. Thirdly, we do not take the position of refusing to distribute such knowledge because we wish to be arbitrary, but largely to protect not only our service but the legitimate demands of our subscribers and it has been our experience as a rule, that the greater number of people ringing up at this time seeking information are not bona fide subscribers.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

Cochran sponsors 'Parents as Teachers' bill

Senators Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) and Kit Bond (R-Mo.) have introduced legislation to fund a nationwide early childhood education program for parents.

The new bill will encourage states to establish or expand the 'Parents as Teachers' (PAT) program. It has active sites in 26 states at this time.

Cochran said the bill provides training and support services for parents to help them improve their children's development from birth to age three.

"Those involved in the 'Parents as Teachers' program in Mississippi are convinced that it is providing meaningful benefits in the form of healthier and brighter children who are better prepared for school," he said.

At a recent news conference to announce the new legislation, Cochran praised the work of the Center for Family Education in Jackson, which operates the state's PAT program. It is a program for all families and is proving helpful to even the most "at risk" families.

"There needs to be a continuing effort to improve the quality of learning for our

Port and Harbor Commission applies for block grant funds

BY TRACI BONNEY

Improvements at the Port Bienville Industrial Park were high on the priority list as the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission voted at its Monday meeting to apply for Community Development Block Grant money.

If given, the money — about $485,000 — will be used for utilities improvements and public roadways in order to bring more prospects into the park.

Also discussed were the commission's efforts to sell the Bayou Caddy Marina.

Commission Director Harold "Buz" Olsen, in his update to the commissioners, said the commission will advertise for buyers after the appraisal on the property is finished.

Up for sale is a commercial building set up to be a seafood market, 16 commercial boat slips, a commercial loading dock and a fuel area. Olsen said the purpose behind selling it into private ownership is to make the facility more productive.

Not included for sale is the public boat launch ramp, which is currently in use.

Other business included approving claims and revenues dockets.

young children in Mississippi from birth until the time they enter school," Cochran said.

The bill authorizes a $20 million "competitive grants" program to increase the number of participating states and program sites. But, it will be funded at decreasing levels so it will be phased out in five years.

Compretta to study creation of state gaming commission

Rep. J. P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis has been named to a special House of Representatives subcommittee to look into the possibility of creating a Mississippi Gaming Commission, one of the issues expected to be considered during the special legislative session later this month.

Rep. H. L. "Sonny" Merideth of Greenville is chairman of the subcommittee and Rep. Jim Simpson of Long Beach is vice chairman. Rep. Ashley Hines of Greenville is secretary.

In addition to Compretta, other members are Representatives H. S. "Butch" McMillan of Kosciusko; Tyrone Ellis of Starkville and Charlie Williams of Senatobia.

Meredith announced the subcommittee held a hearing on June 6 to gather information regarding possible legislation for establishing a Mississippi Gaming Commission to regulate gambling on "cruise ships" and Mississippi River boats and any other types of gambling that might be authorized later.

return from the Battle of New Orleans.

A letter from a Natchez merchant in 1790 listing items which Jackson had ordered "first and foremost were wine and rum, and also snuff boxes."

Remini related his version of the celebrated pursuit and "marriage" of Jackson to Rachel Donelson Robards that was supposed to have taken place in Natchez, presumably in the summer of 1791.

Jackson, who had fallen in love with Rachel Robards, the wife of Lewis Robards, made the "impetuous" decision to flee with Rachel from Nashville to Natchez in January, 1791 after Robards had left her in a rage and moved to Kentucky.

After depositing Rachel with friends in Natchez, Jackson had returned to Nashville in May over the Natchez Trace. There in Nashville, Jackson received what he thought was word that Robards had divorced his wife.

Without waiting to ascertain the validity of the divorce, Jackson hastened back to Natchez to marry Rachel. That marriage is supposed by some accounts, and local lore, to have taken place at Springfield Plantation outside Natchez in the late summer of 1791.

But, says Remini, "there is no proof that the marriage ever took place."

Then two years after the return of Rachel and Jackson to Nashville via the Natchez Trace, they discovered that all Robards had obtained was an act from the Virginia Legislature for the right to sue for divorce, "but Robards had not availed himself of it."

It was not until September, 1793 that Robards' divorce from Rachel actually became valid, thereupon Jackson immediately married. "Imagine this happening to a presidential candidate in 1990," said Remini.

There was ample evidence that Jackson was a slave owner and a slave trader, Remini said. "He was a racist without knowing it."

Poignantly, one of the events here was the dedication of a historic marker honoring the noted writer Richard Wright, a Natchez native and descendant of slaves.

Not until recent years has Mississippi accorded Wright, whose powerful book "Native Son" in 1940 is considered one of the masterpieces of American literature, recognition as a distinguished Mississippian.

At the other end of the broad spectrum encompassed by last week's celebration was the dedication of the stately pre-Civil War mansion, Melrose, as a cornerstone of the nation's newest national park, and an anchor of the Natchez Trace Parkway.

Yes, Mrs. Byrnes would be proud.

Waveland Animal Shelter offers free gifts with cat adoption

Special to the Echo
June marks Adopt-a-Cat Month, a nationwide effort to secure "purr-manent" homes for lost and abandoned cats now residing in America's animal shelters.

For the 16th consecutive year, 9-Lives Cat Food, the American Humane Association

(AHA) and more than 1,000 animal shelters nationwide will unite to encourage feline adoptions and promote lifelong safety precautions to protect pets.
TV star Morris the 9-Lives cat, once a homeless stray himself before he was rescued from an East Coast animal shelter, is "spokescat" for Adopt-a-Cat Month.

He, like the millions of other healthy animals arriving at shelters each year, had only a slim chance of survival. (Sadly, only 28 percent of shelter cats are placed in homes, while due to overcrowded shelter conditions, many of the remaining felines are euthanized within three to five days after their arrival.)

Since Adopt-a-Cat Month began, it has helped save the lives of some 1.4 million felines. And, according to the American Humane Association, programs like Adopt-a-Cat Month have contributed to the growing popularity of cats. Cats outnumber dogs 57 million to 50 million.

"Along with this growing popularity has come an increasing concern for feline safety," says Ed Abson, manager of Waveland Animal Shelter.

"Neutering and spaying and the use of microchips and tags for identification are particularly important, as the biggest threats to cats come from outside the home."

Statistics show that the average lifespan of an "indoor" cat is 15 to 20 years, compared to 18 months for a cat that is allowed to roam outside.

"In addition to the obvious result of preventing unwanted litters, neutering and spaying tend to calm active pets and often decrease a cat's urge to roam," added Abson.

"If a cat accidentally escapes, proper identification offers a better chance that he will be returned quickly to his owner."

Animal shelters participating in Adopt-a-Cat Month will make adoptions especially enticing by offering complimentary adoption packages to anyone who adopts a cat or kitten during June.

The package included "The Morris Method" book of cat care, a supply of 9-Lives coupons and sample of 9-Lives Cat Food for the adopted cat's first "din-din."

Waveland Animal Shelter is located at 322 Gulfside Street in Waveland and is open Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Adoption Fee is $16.

Artificial reefs are topic of 'Evening at Aquarium'

"Mississippi's Artificial Reefs—Where the Fish Are" will be the next Evening at the Aquarium presentation at 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 19 at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's J. L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium in Biloxi.

The program will feature Ron Lukens of the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission.

The family-oriented Evening at the Aquarium series is sponsored free of charge to the public each month by GCRL and the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium.

Ship Island boat service begins summer excursions

Regularly scheduled excursion boat service to Ship Island from Biloxi began summer operations Saturday, May 26, according to Superintendent Jerry Eubanks. Service from Gulfport, which began in the spring, will continue with extended services during the summer season.

Pan Isles Inc. of Gulfport is the only excursion boat service authorized by contract with the United States Department of Interior, National Park Service, to provide regularly scheduled trips from the mainland to Ship Island.

"This service is provided for the public to have access to the recreational and historical resources located on Ship Island, a part of Gulf Islands National Seashore," said Eubanks.

The round trip fare for riding the excursion boat from either Gulfport or Biloxi is $11 for adults and $5 for children ages 3-10. The trip takes approximately 70 minutes. Children under three years of age ride free of charge.

Visitors facilities on the island include restrooms and showers, pavilions with picnic tables and a concession snack bar. Chairs and umbrellas are available for rent.

Ship Island is also the location of Fort Massachusetts, a historic brick fortification. Persons planning to visit are reminded that glass containers are prohibited on the island.

For more information on these and other facilities available through Gulf Islands National Seashore, call (601) 875-9057.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

When summer comes, I think that I could live happily as a vegetarian, with all those luscious vine-ripened tomatoes and bell (green) peppers and corn and other vegetables in such variety and abundance.

Juicy, vine-ripened tomatoes are surely among Nature's greatest gifts to mankind; and, oh, how I bless those brave souls who were the first, so long ago, to venture a bite of the allegedly poisonous "love apple" as the tomato was called in early days, regarded as merely a decorative plant.

To exchange a "love apple" was a sign of affection in the early days of our country, but to eat one, never, until legend tells us, a brave farmer in New England dared to do it before the eyes of his fellows gathered in the town square!

However, from earliest times the Indians of Mexico and South America, history tells us, enjoyed the "tomat" which grew wild in abundance all around. Just took our forbears awhile to catch on to the wonders of the tomato!

And, although I'm the brownest-of-brown-thumbed gardeners, I'm feasting on summer's bounty straight from the vegetable patch, thanks to greener-thumbed and generous friends who share the wealth of nature with me!

When I strolled down the drive to the mailbox today, I found that a friend had dropped off a bag of the juiciest of tomatoes, along with bell (green) peppers and cucumbers; and shortly afterwards another friend stopped by with a couple of ears of corn, so you don't need three guesses, not even one, as to what the menu at my house this evening!

In fact, I couldn't wait until I reached the front porch, even bit into a tomato as I started up the drive, and headed for the porch swing to relax as I enjoyed each bite.

There's so much more to tomatoes than just slices in salad or BLT sandwiches or such. For instance, I like broiled tomatoes as accompaniment to broiled chicken or lamb chops or other meats.

Just halve the tomatoes in the quantity you need, and cut the cut surfaces. Past with basil, and heap seasoned bread crumbs atop each half. Shake grated Parmesan cheese over, and top with the barest bit of butter or margarine. Broil four inches from the heat for, say, five minutes.

Or slice the tomatoes, and saute in a little butter or margarine, turning once and seasoning with pepper and a trace of salt, sprinkling with chopped parsley and chopped green onions, then serving atop a slice of toast which has already been topped in its turn with a slice of ham.

If you've never made a fresh tomato sauce for pasta, you've missed a taste treat. It's also good as a sauce for chicken or seafood. And, when I have extra-ripe tomatoes on hand, instead of stewing them or such, I like to make:

FRESH TOMATO RELISH

5 or 6 medium or large ripe, ripe garden tomatoes, chopped coarsely

4 green onions, chopped
2 toes garlic, finely chopped
1/4 cup vinegar
3/4 cup oil

Dash pepper, fresh ground if possible, salt optional
Generous dash of basil

Combine all ingredients and chill for several hours. This is tasty "as is" with toasted slices of skinny "Po Boy" French bread, or melba toast. And, it's quite good with sliced ham or chicken or as a "topper" for broiled or fried fish fillets, or—well, try it out for yourself.

Single parent/homemaker focus of Jeff Davis seminar

Anyone interested in finding a new direction for his/her life is invited to an opportunity seminar to be sponsored by the Single Parent/Homemaker Services at Gulf Coast Community College's Jefferson Davis Campus.

The 10-day workshop will be June 18-29, 9 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday at the campus room L133.

Program director Edna Boone said the seminar is open to people who are at a turning point in their lives and need to gain self confidence.

Participants will explore occupational options that will include "non-traditional" work for women.

Boone said she tries to have a seminar like this each season. Participants also will learn about services available through the Single Parent/Homemaker Services program.

Boone encourages preregistration because enrollment is limited. Scholarships are available to those who cannot afford the $5 registration fee.

For more information, contact Boone at the Jefferson Davis Campus, 896-3355, ext. 253.

Why water bath jelly, jams and preserves?

Even though sugar helps preserve jellies and jams, molds can grow on the surface of these products. Molds which grow on the surface of jellies may not be as harmless as it seems.

Mycotoxins which may be harmful to humans have been found in some of these moldy jars of jelly, jam and preserves.

Because of the possibility of mold contamination, processing of jelly, jams and preserves is essential. Paraffin or wax seals are not recommended for any type of home canned product.

To process, prepare the jelly, jam, preserves or marmalade according to the directions. Pour immediately into sterile canning jars. Fill jars leaving 1/4 inch head space.

Wipe the rim of the jar, adjust lids, seal and process in a boiling water bath canner for five minutes. If unsterile jars are used, process the jars for 10 minutes.

Remove jars from the canner. Cool away from drafts. When the jars have cooled sufficiently, check for a seal and store in a cool dry place.

Avoid cooling jars in the boiling water bath. Letting jars cool in the water they were processed in can be dangerous. Remove jars from the boiling water bath immediately when the processing time is up.

Certain bacteria can survive the boiling water process. Because these bacteria thrive at high temperatures, they can cause spoilage if canning jars are left in the hot water to slowly cool.

Removing jars immediately for cooling at room temperature will prevent this type of spoilage.

Handle jars processed in a steam pressure canner differently from the heat and allow cooling until the pressure returns to zero naturally. This period of time, after removing from the heat, is part of the processing time and must not be deleted.

Never rush cool a steam pressure canner by placing the canner under running water or by using a fan. This will result in an inadequate process and the jars may break. Once the pressure has returned to zero, remove the jars immediately and cool at room temperature.

Washboard Leo entertains

More than 250 children and a number of adults were on hand at the Pass Christian Public Library to hear musical storyteller "Washboard" Leo Thomas as the library officially kicked-off the children's summer reading program. His tales of "swamp critters" from his haunts in Louisiana entertained the crowd as he played a variety of impromptu musical instruments. Children were invited to join him on the washboard, spoons, tin cans and shakers. Future events are planned for the summer at the library, located on Heim Avenue. For information, call 452-4596.

Library system completes first phase of automation

The Hancock County Library System has recently completed Phase I of its automation project with the installation of a computerized card catalog.

The Library has purchased the Dynix Automated Library System, which will, over the next several months, fully automate all functions of the library.

It is now possible to search the library's complete holdings, even for up to the minute additions of new materials in a matter of seconds.

The system allows a user to search for books in the traditional methods, by author, title, or subject, but it also allows searches by key words, both by title and subject.

What this means to the user is that even though an exact title may have slipped his mind, he can still find it simply by entering one or two key words that he does remember.

The computer will search its indexes for any use of these words, report the number of times they are found, and display the titles in which they appear.

The user may search the contents of a book in the same way; for example, the computer can locate a play, a poem, a short story, or an essay contained within a collection similar works, when they have been indexed.

The library system will soon be automating other public service functions, such as circulation. Users will be asked to re-register at the library and will receive new cards with identifying bar code numbers attached to them.

A library logo has been designed for the library system and will be imprinted on the new cards. The library will begin undertaking patron re-registration during the summer.

And it is expected that the automation of circulation will be fully operational by September, 1990.

Members of the library system staff express thanks to all library users who waited patiently while the building was closed to the public in order to bar code the book collection during the week of May 21.

Special thanks are offered as well to the patrons who assisted the library staff by volunteering for the bar coding project: Bernice Augrain, Pat Barber, Barbara Blanchard, Delores Bullett, Evie Gordon, Alice Green, Dot Hamann, Debbie Johnson, Beatrice Ladner;

Virginia Lauderdale, JoAnn Little, Jean Reeves, Cheryl Reynolds, Liz Shaw, Vickie Stahle and Betty Strasser.

Community Service Council to meet

The Community Services Planning Council will meet Thursday, June 14 at noon at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Speaker will be James Inabinet, director of La Terre Quest, a wilderness/survival camp for teenagers and young adults. Reservations are not necessary.

Register now for library's summer reading program

Registration is now open for the Hancock County Library System's 1990 summer reading program, according to Prima Wusnack, Library System director.

This year's theme is "Summer Splash," chosen to encourage local children to jump into cool summer reading.

The program will be held at all three branches of the system—the Kiln Library on Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m., the City-County Public Library on Wednesdays at 10 a.m. and the Waveland Library on Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. It will last through the week of July 10.

In order to register, children should go to the branch they usually visit and complete the required forms. All participants must set a reading goal of at least five to six books, but a personal goal of more than that is encouraged.

All activities for the program are designed to appeal to children in grades one through eight. Participants will receive certificates upon completion of meeting their reading goals.

Further information on the program may be obtained by contacting Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724, Karen Peoples, Waveland Library, 467-9240, or Cathy Kanady, City-County Library, 467-5282.

Riviera Productions will have auditions for 'Gypsy' Saturday, June 16 and Sunday, June 17, 2 p.m. at Mississippi Power Company, 2992 West Beach, Gulfport.

The show, a musical comedy based on the autobiography of Gypsy Rose Lee, features a large cast which includes six major roles, dancers and children nine years of age and older.

Those who plan to audition should be prepared to sing and summer reading.

The program will be at all three branches of the system. Children may view the program on Thursday, June 14 from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Waveland branch on Coleman Avenue. Screenings at Bay St. Louis and Kiln were earlier in the week.

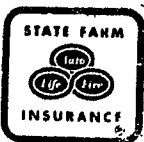

Passes are required for the viewing at the City-County Library and may be obtained there.

Further information on the program may be obtained by contacting Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724, Karen Peoples, Waveland Library, 467-9240 or Cathy Kanady, City-County Library, 467-5282.

Peoples Bank defeats Fahey in thriller, 7-5

With the bases loaded and two outs in the bottom of the last inning, Talvin Payne doubled to right field to give Peoples Federal a come-from-behind victory over Edmond Fahey in Bay St. Louis 11-12 little league action Tuesday evening.

The win propelled Peoples Bank into a half-game lead in the standings with a 9-3 record, closely followed by Edmond Fahey with a 9-4 mark.

Dillon Lacoste put Edmond Fahey on the scoreboard in the top of the second inning as he was driven in by Davey Manasco's hit. Manasco later scored on a passed ball, giving Fahey a 2-0 advantage.

Peoples Bank picked up a run in the bottom half of the inning as Wali Shabazz doubled and scored on a sacrifice by M.J. Krankey. At the end of two innings, Fahey led 2-1.

After a scoreless third inning, Joshua Ladner scored on a passed ball increasing Fahey's lead to 3-1.

In the bottom of the fourth inning, Peoples Bank exploded for three runs as Shabazz, Krankey and Robbie Lumpkin all scored. The big hit was provided by Bryce Hartshorne as he doubled in Lumpkin. After four complete innings, Peoples Bank held a 4-3 advantage.

Fahey regained the lead as Luke Weems reached base on an error in the top of the last inning and eventually scored on a passed ball. Frank McGovern also scored for the Fahey squad giving his team a 5-4 advantage.

In the bottom of the fifth inning Peoples scored three runs on one hit as Shabazz, Hartshorne, and Jeremy Turcotte were all on base when Payne delivered his game-winning hit to score all three players.

The winning pitcher for Peoples Bank was Wali Shabazz, while Casey Heitzmann took the loss for Edmond Fahey.

Coaching Peoples Bank are Bud Goins and Dwayne LaFontaine, while Wendell Ingram and Carl Heitzmann coach the Edmond Fahey squad.

Other coaches in the league include Tim Bourgeois and Frank Yanok for Merchants Bank, while Myron Oliver and Mark Tomasich guide the Ward's team.

Waveland Little League races begin to tighten

Special to the Echo
With only three weeks remaining in the season, the Waveland Little League age groups are starting to tighten up.

"No one is running away with the lead in their division anymore," said league president Bernard Tusa.

In the 13-15-year-olds division, first place Goodyear dropped a pair of games to Charles H. Johnson and Dairy Queen.

In the 11-12-year-olds division, Bay-Tech remains the front-runner winning two games.

The Burger King Whoppers split, 1-1, and Pan Am dropped both of their games.

"The 9-10-year-olds are probably the tightest race of the league," said Tusa.

Sears won both of their games to remain in first place. Big E and One-Hour Photo split their games, with Jack's losing both of theirs.

"From first to last place, only three games separate these teams. They all have six games remaining on the schedule, so this will be a battle for first place," Tusa said.

"The T-ball age group is led by Coca Cola, but all teams are starting to come around, and any of them can win against each other. It's good to see the whole league being so even and no one is a dominating team."

Everyone still has a chance to win the league, and that keeps the interest and competition in the players," Tusa concluded.

Bay Tech

Bay Area Youth Soccer slates meeting, election

The annual general meeting of Bay Area Youth Soccer and election of officers and directors will be Sunday, June 17 at St. Clare cafeteria at 7 p.m.

All members of BAYS are encouraged to attend the meeting to elect officers and to plan for the coming soccer year. The nominating committee of

Bay Area Youth Soccer has proposed the following slate of officers and directors:

Ronnie LaFontaine for president; Timmy Kingston for vice-president; Virginia Kenny for secretary.

Also, Eddie Farve and Alvin Kingston for treasurer; Donnie

Freeman, Leo Laurent, John Saifidi, Bernard Tusa and Ronnie Vanney for two director positions.

Returning directors are Milton Bernard, Tom Demboski and Richard Flowers.

All board members will be asked to serve in dual capacities and to serve on such committees as publicity, equipment, fields, fundraising, sponsor coordination, etc.

In addition to the election of officers, the board of directors will report on the activities of BAYS and plans for the coming 1990-91 soccer year.

Safe hunters

Eighth graders at Pass Christian Middle School completed the Hunter Safety Education course conducted by Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks conservation officers and Robert White and Richard Cain, safety instructor and education supervisor, respectively. Nathan

Gulfport Yacht Club to host Youth Sailing Championship

The 1990 U. S. Youth Sailing Championships will be held in Gulfport and will be hosted by the Gulfport Yacht Club June 22 through June 29. The event is sponsored by the United States Yacht Racing Union and Nautica.

The USYRU Youth Sailing Championships is the premier event for the active young racer in the United States. All young U. S. sailors who have not turned 20 in 1990 are eligible to apply each year to the United States Yacht Racing Union by sending in a sailing resume from which the Racing Union makes its selections.

A maximum of only 60 sailors in each of the three divisions have been selected to participate. Racing will be in Lasers, Laser IIs and Sailboards.

The week-long event begins with a two-day Advanced Racing Clinic. A strong educational element is built into every aspect with emphasis on helping each sailor improve his skills.

Directed and taught by a team of Olympic-level coaches, the clinic provides the sailors with individualized coaching on their technique and tactics and covers topics ranging from organizing their racing programs to sport psychology.

Being in top-notch physical shape is imperative, too, for a sailor must "hike out" constantly to keep the boat upright. The hull is so light, the sail area is so great and the mast so tall that it makes handling a Laser a physical challenge.

Laser's specifications prove interesting, too. It is a small, light-weight boat only 130 pounds and measuring only 13'10" long. The mast is a towering 20'1" high pole with a sail area of 76 square feet.

The Laser II, a two-man boat, is a little longer and wider than the Laser with a slightly heavier hull and an over-sized bendy rig. They are light and incredibly responsive and extremely fast.

Local sailors are Manning Montagnet, crew member, and Jennifer Lovell, skipper of SYC New Orleans, PCYC, Pass

Christian, Laser II. Robert Prince, Laser I, Pass Christian, and Tyler Rainey, Laser I, GYC, Gulfport.

Angels, Coca Cola win St. Clare T-ball tourney

The Bay St. Louis Angels defeated the Waveland team, Hancock Bank, to win the 5-6-year-olds T-ball tournament Saturday at the St. Clare Seafood Festival and Fair.

The Angels advanced to the championship game by defeating Tricou House of Waveland Little League and the A's from Bay St. Louis. They finished the tournament with a 3-0 record. Hancock Bank advanced to the championship bracket by winning on a forfeited game and defeating Tricou House.

On Sunday, Waveland Little League's Coca Cola team advanced to the 7-8-year-olds championship game by defeating McDonald's and Alcan. They defeated Powell, 22-18. During the round-robin tournament, the teams recorded the following finishes: Coca-Cola, 3-0; Alcan, 2-1;

Powell, 1-2; and McDonald's, 0-3.

"The outcome of each one of these games was decided in the last inning, making for a very exciting tournament," said tournament director Bernard Tusa.

Tusa was pleased with the participation in the first T-ball tournament and plans to make it an annual event. He extended thanks to all who helped make it successful.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1990-1C

Gulfview honors

Students at Gulfview Elementary were treated to a special field trip to the Marine Education Center in Biloxi for maintaining honor roll status or having perfect attendance for the school year. Grades kindergarten through fourth are pictured at right. Grades five through eight visited Bouvier, the home of Jefferson Davis. Both trips were sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Club. Bottom row from left, Jennifer Peters and Jenise Baker receive Presidential Fitness Awards; Nick Deal and Chad Davis maintain straight "A's" and perfect attendance; and Deal, Kristian Bates, Davis, Jessica Schwartz, Jonathan Butsch and Mark Hall are congratulated by Superintendent Terrell Randolph, Principal Donald North and assistant Myrna Bourgeois for maintaining an "A" average. (Not pictured are Sarah Clark, Timmy Lyons, Chantelle Dupuis, Stacy Schiro, Nathan Deal and Davis Morris.

CES students honored at awards ceremony

Coast Episcopal High School honored students of exceptional academic abilities at the annual awards ceremony held in the outdoor chapel on the school grounds in Pass Christian on May 24.

Principal Linda McCulloch presented certificates of recognition to all students with a year end average of 90 or above and with no grade lower than an 80. Receiving certificates were juniors Clay Cazier, Rebecca Thompson, Paul Bernadas, Ashley Neill, Leanne Stafford, Jeff Homrig and Laura Taylor.

Also, sophomores Michelle Morse and Angela Lawson and freshmen Randy Hartwell, Megan Uram and Ellen McCaney.

And, eighth graders Adam Burdick, Whitney Eastman, Terry Welch, Miriam Salloum, and seventh graders Tim Gormley, Sally Cassady, Rebecca Emerson, Bobby Garrett and Marty VanderNoot.

Receiving National Educational Development Test certificates for scoring at the 90th percentile or above as measured nationally were freshman Nathan Guice and sophomore Angela Lawson.

This year Coast Episcopal High School had two state winners and several district winners in the Mississippi Private School Academic Betterment Competition. On the state level Robert Garrett won second place in the seventh grade math competition, and Timothy Gormley placed fifth in life science.

District winners were Bobby Garrett, first place, and Marty VanderNoot, third place, both in seventh grade math; Terry Welch, first place algebra I; Tim Gormley, first place, life science; and Miriam Salloum, second place, physical science.

Academic honors for excellent work in various departments began with art awards presented by Mrs. Reta Ridling to seventh graders Tim Gormley and Jesmyn Ward and to eighth grader Douglas Grant.

She also presented theatre awards to eighth grader Veronica Colby and to ninth grader Davy Perronne.

Dr. Bill Jenkins, director of the CEHS Computer Education Center, presented a plaque in computer science to junior Clay Cazier.

The Highest Honor English Award was presented by Mrs. Sandra Cazier to eighth grader Miriam Salloum. Receiving certificates for outstanding scholarship were Terry Welch,

JENNIFER DUPREE AND CHRISTY NECAISE

HNC Student Council receives state awards

The Hancock North Central Student Council attended the State Student Council Convention at Picayune High School on April 21.

Members received a runner-up award for state project of the year for project Angel Tree. The project provided Christmas presents for disadvantaged children.

The council is planning to continue and expand this project next year.

Jennifer Dupree received second place in state competition with her speech on leadership. Christy Necaise, 1989-1990 vice-president, received a state runner-up award for student council member of the year.

Hancock Junior High cheerleaders take honors

The junior high cheerleader squad of Hancock North Central attended the NCA Cheerleader Camp at USM-Gulf Park June 4-7.

Each night the cheerleaders were awarded ribbons for their performance. HNC cheerleaders received one red and three blue ribbons.

They received the NCA Squad Achievement Award and an award of excellence nominee ribbon.

The crowning achievement was when the girls received a coveted red/white/blue spirit stick to bring home.

The 1990-91 Hancock Junior High squad consists of Renee Caston, captain; Shenea Ladner, co-captain; Jennifer Richard, Lenny LaCoste, Myndi Kuhlmann, Jennie Stewart, Kelly Lee, Tina Ladner, Kim Kopf, Charlana Latino and Brandy Cuevas.

Carter earned a bachelor of arts degree in history and studio art.

Macalester College is a highly selective liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (USA).

The college is known for its diverse student body, use of metropolitan area resources, extensive international programs and tradition of community involvement and service.

YOUR BONES MAY BE DISSOLVING.

OSTEOPOROSIS CAN ROB YOU OF BONE MASS SILENTLY, WITHOUT PAIN, WITHOUT WARNING SIGNS.

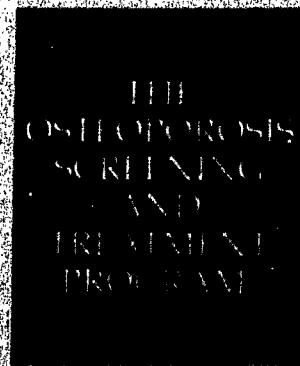

"Not me," you say? You may think osteoporosis affects only the elderly. Think again. It can strike anyone of any age, any race. If you're a woman over 30, you are especially at risk. Three out of four women fall victim to the disease. You can feel fit and healthy, even as your bones dissolve away. By the time you feel its effects, osteoporosis is already at a dangerous stage. Risk of fracture and painful, sometimes disfiguring complications can be well advanced.

The damage osteoporosis does can't be entirely undone, but the disease itself can be arrested and reversed. Catch it early enough, and you've got a good chance of avoiding crippling complications, too.

CALL FOR YOUR SCREENING, TODAY.

Ordinary X-rays can detect bone loss usually only after 30-40 percent of the bone is already gone. The SMH Osteoporosis Screening and Treatment Program employs leading-edge technologies to spot the disease in its earliest stages. No preparation is required for the screening. No shots, no probes, no discomfort. You remain fully clothed. It takes only minutes.

Dr. Mark C. Lueg, who developed the SMH Osteoporosis

(504) 649-6053
(800) 627-7733

Screening and Treatment Program, is a nationally recognized authority on the disease. Until recently, osteoporosis was thought incurable. But new treatment methods used by Dr. Lueg now make it possible to stop the loss of bone mass and actually rebuild bone density.

Maybe you feel just fine, but the only way to find out for sure whether you have osteoporosis, the "silent thief", is to call now for a screening.

Honors

eight grade, and Marty VanderNoot, seventh grade.

Receiving awards of recognition were eighth graders Adam Burdick and Whitney Eastman and seventh grader Bobby Garrett.

English instructor Madelyn Taylor awarded junior Rebecca Thompson with the Highest Honor Plaque.

Thompson was also recognized for her contribution as business manager for the yearbook.

Taylor also presented certificates of achievement to freshman Randy Hartwell and to juniors Laura Taylor and Clay Cazier.

Each year the University of the South in Seawann, Tenn. recognizes outstanding juniors at more than 200 high schools nationwide. The award, a handsomely bound Oxford Dictionary, was presented by Taylor to junior Jeff Homrig.

Junior Laura Taylor and freshmen Davy Perronne and Ellen McRaney, editors of the school's literary magazine, the Coast Quarterly, were recognized and received certificates.

The study of foreign languages is emphasized in the curriculum at Coast Episcopal. Clyde LeBlanc presented Latin I awards to Bobby Garrett, Highest Honor Plaque; and certificates of achievement to Tim Cormley, Miriha Herrin, Marty VanderNoot, Marcie Williams, Jesmyn Ward, Rebecca Emerson and Anna Stanfield.

Latin II awards were presented to Miriam Salloum, Highest Honor Plaque, and certificates to Lauren Bentz, Adam Burdick, Whitney Eastman, Terry Welch and Mary Gholson.

Awards in French, also presented by LeBlanc were, French I, Highest Honor Plaque, Megan Uram; certificates, Nathan Guice, Angela Lawson and Missy Mizell.

French II awards went to Blair Shellnut, highest honor; certificates, Damion Lawyer, Ashley Taylor, Linn Montjoy and Chris Painter; French III, highest honor, Paul Bernadas.

Karola Williams presented a German-English dictionary to students of German III who received highest honor awards, Laura Taylor and Clay Cazier.

She also presented certificates in German I to Randy Hartwell and Ellen McRaney and in German II to Jeff Homrig.

Rebecca Boudreaux presented highest honor plaques to Melissa Cornelius in Spanish III and to Michelle Morse in Spanish II.

Certificates of scholarship were awarded to Rebecca Thompson and Ashley Neill in Spanish III. Certificates of recognition went to Cherie Todd, Spanish II; Katherine Parsel and Tyrone Jones, Spanish I; and a Certificate of Merit went to Davy Perronne, Spanish I.

In the math department, Kanta Sabharwal presented awards in algebra I to Miriam Salloum, Highest Honor Plaque; Adam Burdick, Terry Welch and Whitney Eastman, certificates; and in seventh grade math, Marty VanderNoot, plaque; and Bobby Garrett, Tim Gormley and Sally Cassady, certificates.

Math instructor Janet Young presented highest honor plaques to Michelle Morse, geometry; Paul Bernadas, algebra III; Rebecca Thompson, trigonometry; and Clay Cazier, pre-calculus.

Certificates of scholarship were presented to Jeff Homrig and Randy Hartwell, algebra II; Laura Taylor and Leanne Stafford, algebra III; Paul Bernadas and Rebecca Thompson, pre-calculus; and Paul Bernadas and Jeff Homrig, trigonometry. Sandra Cazier presented a Highest Honor Plaque to Randy Hartwell in biology and certificates to Amy Dedeaux, Bobby Garrett and Marty VanderNoot in life science.

Science instructor Dr. S. L. Sabharwal presented highest honor plaques to Miriam Salloum, physical science; Jeff Homrig, advanced chemistry; and Clay Cazier, advanced biology.

Certificates were presented to Terry Welch and Whitney Eastman, physical science; Laura Taylor, advanced chemistry; and Rebecca Thompson, advanced biology.

The Highest Honor Plaque in chemistry was presented by Young to Michelle Morse.

In the Social Studies Department, instructor Diane Page presented highest honor plaques to Michelle Morse, U.S. history; and Clay Cazier, American government and economics.

Certificates were presented to Mary VanderNoot, Mississippi history; Bobby Garrett, Mississippi civics; Adam Burdick, American history; Randy Hartwell, geography; Laura Taylor, American government; and Rebecca Thompson, economics.

Each year the Martha Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church presents a blue ribbon award to a student of outstanding leadership, service and scholarship ability.

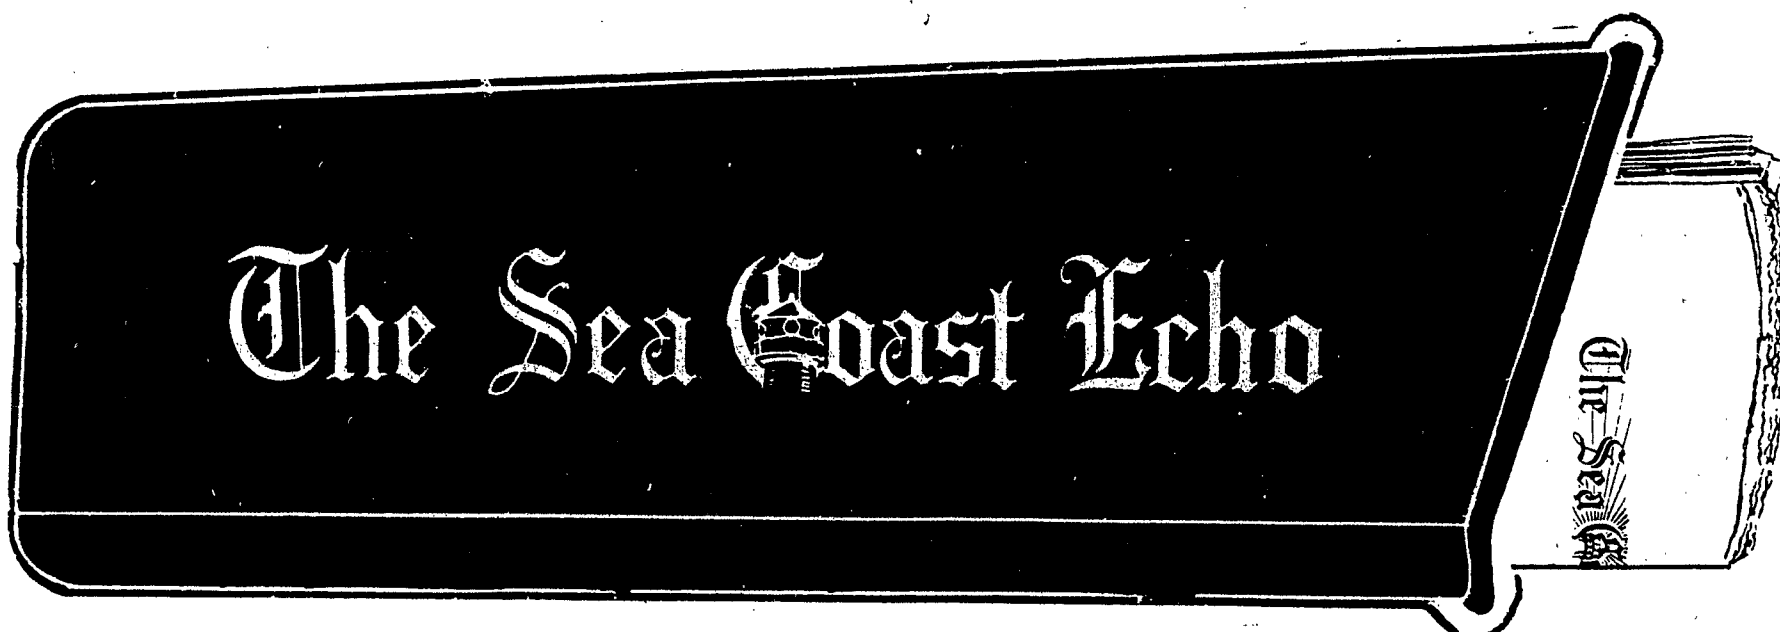

This year the award, presented by Mrs. Tom Shellnut, went to Kathryn Grant.

"We Tried to Compare these Prices With our Biggest Competitor..."

But, We Couldn't Find the Items!"

"At Schwegmann, we're dedicated to staying the low-price leader. So, we're always comparing our prices to the competition's. We compare meat, produce, famous brands in all varieties, specialty items, . . . you name it. And we've found that, even with our biggest competitor, there's really no comparison. Because we sell thousands of items they don't even stock. Check it out for yourself. And see who really gives you the most for your money. You'll find that Schwegmann Checks out Better!"
